
DOE RTS

Overview

The Department of Operations and Emergencies' (DOE) Regional Thematic Specialists (RTS), based in the Regional Offices, can provide support and guidance to Country Offices carrying out emergency operations. The table below provides the contact information of each DOE RTS in IOM's nine Regional Offices.

IOM's Role

About the Regional Offices

The Regional Offices oversee, plan, coordinate and support IOM activities within the region. Regional Offices are responsible for project review and endorsement and provide technical support to Country Offices, particularly in the area of project development. The Regional Offices are listed below, with links to their respective websites to learn more about the programming and Country Offices covered by each.
